Initialize Server
Server is launched and launches the ConfigurationClient 405
Configuration Client sends the default Skin File name to the Skin File Reader (which may be part of the same executable) 410
Skin File Reader opens the Skin File 415
Skin File Reader decodes and reads one token at a time, and parses expressions in order to create buttons,menues, ect on the Server via its COM interface 420
if user is already logged in 426
If user is not logged in yet, Skin File Reader uses Placeholders within the Skin File in place of personalized variables 421
User logs in with default Skin 423
Placeholders are dynamically pouplated with information obtained about user during log in 427
Graphical screen/desktop is displayed 428
User may decide to change the active Skin, so the name of the new Skin File is sent to the Configuration Client 425
Desktop is cleared, old Skin is removed in preperation for loading the new Skin 430
